LAST OF THE ART LECTURES.

Mr. W. M. R. French Concludes His Part in University Extension.

Mr. W. M. R. French completed his course of lectures on art in the University Extension Course last evening at Plymouth Church. The subject was color. Mr. French drew views of different shapes and then decorated them with various colors, showing the proper effect of light and shade. The color sense, he said, was more developed than that of form. Color is a natural instinct; much more so than that of form. Women are rarely color blind, for they are trained to color on account of having to match and make combinations of color in dress. Any one can learn to draw, but there are only a few great colorists. Many artists find themselves unable to make the nice distinctions of color and abandon fine colors for shades of gray and brown, in which much work will be found to be done. The value of colors and the combinations of colors were shown, also the gradations of color. The color sense becomes dull when one looks at the same color for any length of time. Mr. French expressed the idea that the impressionists lost their true sense of color when they work so long with their purples and lavenders. The scientists make certain declarations about the combinations of primary colors to make other colors, and the painter knows what the scientist tells him and works on with the colors he knows to be right. A diagram showing the complementary colors and their combinations was made before the audience. Expression was lightly touched upon. The character of the artist or of the nation is shown in the picture. The American style is fast, tentative, elegant and graceful, but it does not yet amount to a school.

Mr. French expressed himself as pleased with the audience he has had, and complimented the Board of World's Fair on the presentation of the best grade of papers of exhibition that he has had. The next series of the course will be on "Money with the lecturer Professor Dennis, Mr. Carstensen, who is the president of the center, recommended certain books for those who expect to take the course to read.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor's Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Victor, No. 29 Howard street, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last night. Among the guests present were Chapman Post G. A. R., Ladies' Relief Corps and Company H, under Captain Tarterton. Rev. Mr. Clark, of the Fourth Christian Church, made an address and, on behalf of the church, presented Mr. and Mrs. Victor with a silver water service. Two hundred and fifty guests were present. Supper was served and dancing by the young people followed. Six of Mr. and Mrs. Victor's children were present.

Substitute Wilson Promoted.

The recent death of mail-carrier Ellis made a vacancy in the postoffice, which will be filled by Walter W. Wilson, who has heretofore been a substitute carrier. William Hatfield, being the highest eligible, will be appointed a substitute.

SMOKE HELMET TEST

FIRE FORCE OFFICIALS FIND A NEW INVENTION A GREAT THING.

Park Commissioners Take Steps to Purify the Water Supply from Pleasant Run.

Pleasant Run.

In the presence of the Board of Safety, Chief Webster, Assistant Chief Barrett and most of the captains of the fire department, a test of the Bader firemen's smoke protector was made yesterday at the headquarters of the fire department. The protector consists of a hood that fits snugly over the head and excludes all air from the outside. It is provided with a receiver into which air is pumped, until a pressure of 112 pounds is attained. This air is released automatically and enters the hood directly under the wearer's nostrils. There are protectors open for the eyes and ears, and a small hole that sounds by pressure, is attached in front for the purpose of giving signals. It is claimed that the air in the cylinder is sufficient to last for an hour.

The test was made yesterday in a room 10 by 12 feet. Four sulphur fuming candles were lighted in the room and allowed to burn until the smoke was so dense that a man could not remain in it a second. Two men with the protectors on their heads entered the room and sat there for seventeen minutes, when they were called out, those present being fully satisfied with the test. They said they had not the faintest smell of sulphur during the entire time. Chief Webster said that if the protector was sufficient to keep out the entire smell of sulphur under such conditions it would certainly do all that is claimed for it. During the seventeen minutes one of the men reduced the pressure in the air cylinder fifty-three pounds and the other one fifty-seven pounds.

The Board of Safety will equip the department with the apparatus. The Bader protector was exhibited at the recent international meeting of fire chiefs at Savannah, and was pronounced a success by all who saw it. It is to be tested by the Secretary of the Navy Nov. 12. In speaking of the test Chief Webster said:

"Sulphur fumes are the worst with which firemen have to contend. Men cannot work in sulphur fumes. If those helmets allow men to go right into the heart of the smoke and the fumes like that, they are all right. I remember a fire at a broom factory a few years ago. There was a lot of sulphur burning. Two men dropped as soon as they got their lungs full of the fumes, and had to be dragged out. With these helmets they could have gone right in. They would be a great help in locating the extent and whereabouts of a fire. We could know at once how bad it was, for it would not be hidden behind a veil of smoke, as fires usually are, until we have thrown on water for several minutes. We would get to know more about the origin of many of the fires that take place in the city. I believe that no fire department should be without them, and we must have them here as soon as we can get them."

PLEASANT RUN SEWERAGE.

House Connections Interfere with Park Commission's Plans.

The Park Commission met yesterday afternoon and passed on its monthly bills. Besides this there was action taken relative to the purifying of Pleasant run on account of the completion of the lake in Garfield Park. A letter was sent to the Board of Health asking that it take steps to prevent the use of the stream as a dumping place for offal from the slaughterhouse and from E. Baum & Co.'s establishment, which are located so as to drain into the run above the park. The Health Board was also asked to prevent the use of the Morton-street drain for house connections. It is claimed that the use of this sewer for house connections will leave a sediment of filth in the bottom of the lake.

In this regard the question of sewerage for the Pleasant run district is again pertinent. When Rudolph Hering was here and made the plans for the city's sewer system all that part of the city lying south of the Pleasant run water shed was left out, no provision whatever being made for it. The result is that all the sewers in this district are merely for the surface water and run into Pleasant run. There is no interceptor to take the sewage into the river. This, it is held by the city, is sufficient cause to prevent the connection of houses with the sewers. Such, however, is not the case with the "fourteenth-street sewer," which at the present time has been cut out from Fall creek. It has often been quoted in the engineer's office as Mr. Hering's opinion that 1200 connections could be made with the present fourteenth-street sewer without polluting the water of Fall creek sufficiently to impair the health of the city. This sewer empties into the creek above the water company's gallery, and the people of the South Side cannot see why a few connections cannot be made with the Pleasant run sewers without polluting the water, which is not used in any way by the people.

The water shed dividing the Pleasant run and the Fague's run districts is defined by a line following the Big Four railroad track from a point about half way between East Tenth and Pleasant run to State avenue; thence south almost to Prospect street; thence west in a regular line to Virginia avenue; thence southwest by west in an irregular course till it strikes the river a short distance below where the city's main interceptor flows into the river. All the district south of this line is entirely left out of the plan for sewers. There are only three sewers within the district. One is in State street, from English avenue to Pleasant run; one in Shelby street, from Prospect street to Pleasant run, and the other is what is known as the Morton-street drain. On these sewers there is a demand for not more than twenty-five connections, and probably not that many.

To carry out the system that has been in other parts of the city an intercepting sewer about two and a half miles in length, beginning at State street and Pleasant run, and extending along close to Pleasant run to White river, would be necessary to make the sewerage system complete. It is a large project, but it is a project that is being pushed forward with all possible speed.

Not a Word About Saloons.

At roll call, last night, about twenty of the new patrolmen reported for night duty. Each one was assigned to run with an old patrolman. The districts of the city have been rearranged, so there are now thirty-three. The new men were not instructed at roll call more than to tell them that they must enforce the bicycle ordinance. Nothing was said about the saloons, but all were notified that they would receive private instructions from their sergeants during the night. Two men were assigned to run on the levee until 10:30, when they were to go to Brighton Beach and take a look at the place.

Broad Ripple Petition Again.

The Broad Ripple Rapid Transit Company has asked the Board of World's Fair to read its petition, presented to the old board, asking for a route into the city, and also to consider its proposition to buy a franchise for all the streets of the city at the expiration of the present franchise in 1901. The company offers to make a $1-cent fare to Broad Ripple, if it can get an independent line into the city. It offers to pay $50,000 for a franchise in 1901, and accept all the provisions of the City company's charter, if it can secure the exclusive right to the streets.

Taggart Says It Was an Oversight.

Mayor Taggart says the bonds of the members of the Board of Health are in his charge, and have been since a few days after their appointment. He was asked if he did not know that the charter named the controller as the custodian of the bonds. He seemed somewhat surprised, and said it was simply oversight on his part that they were not in their proper place.

Firemen Paid Yesterday.

The firemen were paid yesterday, and the policemen will be paid to-day. Treasurer Schmidt has inaugurated a new method in this work. He takes his money to the controller's office and redeems the warrants as soon as issued, thus saving money that would have been a trip up and down stairs of the courthouse.

Kenwood Avenue Benefit.

The Board of Works approved the assessment of benefits and damages in the open ing of Kenwood avenue yesterday. Nearly all day was given to hearing remonstrances, but they were of no avail.

Municipal Notes.

Building Inspector Bunting assumed his duties yesterday.

The new inspectors for the engineer's department began their duties yesterday. There were eight of them. The men appointed are on work outside of the office.

In the assessment bureau the change will not take place until Monday, when three new men will be installed as clerks in this department. Two Republicans will be left for a few days.

There is a noticeable thinning out of the large crowd that has made life a burden for the new Mayor for the last few weeks. The courthouse basement has almost resumed its normal appearance yesterday.

SHE SHOT HER SISTER

ELIZA ALLEN AIMED, HOWEVER, TO KILL HER HUSBAND.

The Parties Colored--The Wife Shows No Regret--Serious Condition of the Child.

Charles Allen and his wife, Eliza, colored, living at No. 477 Superior street, quarreled last evening between 7 and 8 o'clock. A revolver figured in the affair. Mrs. Allen fired at her husband, but in the excitement her eleven-year-old sister, Edna Payne, got in the way of the bullet and was wounded, perhaps fatally. The ball entered in the abdomen, and the result is doubtful. Charles Allen is forty-four years of age and his wife is nineteen. She was arrested, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill.

Several different stories are told of the affair. Allen says his wife came home drunk, and when he remonstrated her she became angry, and finally became so enraged that she shot at him. The wife says he became angry because she did not have her supper ready on time, and he accused her wrongly. She says he fired at her while she was upstairs, and she picked up the revolver which he threw away and pursued him. The little girl was shot while down stairs. She was trying to keep out of the way of the husband and wife. Mrs. Payne, the mother of the child, is ill, being confined to her bed, and the affair was a great shock to her. Last night she was in a precarious condition.

Eliza Allen, or Eliza Payne, is a woman well known to the police. Although yet young, she has been arrested a number of times. Allen is not known by the police, and his reputation has been generally good.

Last night the wife lay on a cot at police headquarters and carelessly told the story of the shooting. Her only regret seeming to be that she had wounded her sister and not killed her husband. She wept and laughed occasionally, and indifferently began:

"Last night he threatened to kill me and said I would go to my grave before him. This afternoon I was down town and I came home late. Supper was not ready, and 'course he was put out. He wanted to know where I had been and said he was going to put me in a trunk, when up he comes and shoots at me. I tell you I was so scared that I dropped right down on the floor and I guess he thought I was dead. He picked up the revolver and ran down stairs and then I jumped up, grabbed the revolver and made after him. Mamma was screaming and Edna was crying and everything was all stirred up. I shot, wanting to kill him. He tried to get my life and had it. I right to get his' asked the woman turning to Matron Buchanan.

"Did he treat you kindly?" asked the matron.

"Yes most of the time. He got me all the beer, whiskey and cigarettes I wanted and I never had no cause to complain. Why, when he would come home from work he would put on his good coat and I had six boxes all at once."

"Why did you want to kill him?" asked Mrs. Buchanan.

"He threatened my life and I had a right to kill him. Law, I didn't love the man but I was forced to love him. It was this way. I was in jail and mamma said if I would marry him I could get out. I said I didn't care and mamma said, 'You know, you know, Land, he don't have to work, but he does.'"

All the time she talked she held between her fingers a half-burned cigarette which she would not throw away. She said that her husband had been for some time "he will come if I wants him" and incidentally she added that it might be well for him to bring some bread and butter. She would not mind the imprisonment if she had not wounded her little sister, but shot her husband.

Thanksgiving Banquet.

To-night representatives of the various Republican clubs and organizations will meet at the Marion Club to determine arrangements and details of the proposed Thanksgiving supper to be given to all the officers of every Republican organization in the county. This has been the custom of the Lincoln League for years past. Some of the best speakers in the city have consented to speak. Among those mentioned for toastmaster are William L. Taylor, W. Foster, Merrill Moores, Charles W. Wille and W. H. Ripley, president of the Marion County League, pursuant to his instructions at six o'clock this evening he is expected to send a representative to the conference to-night at 7 o'clock.

Morton Memorial Programme.

The annual memorial services in memory of Oliver P. Morton, Indiana's war Governor, under the auspices of the Grand Army posts of this city, will be held at the Central Christian Church, on North Delaware street, Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The address will be delivered by Hon. D. S. Alexander, of Buffalo.

Commander-in-Chief I. N. Walker will preside. Music will be furnished by the Mozart Quintet and the G. A. R. Quartet. Mrs. Carolyn Winter Good will be asked to sing a solo.

Merely Lost 150 Pounds.

T. J. Charlton, superintendent of the Reform School for Boys, is a man of large physical proportions. He was talking with a friend the other day, who said to him: "Charlton, you are getting thinner."

"Yes," he said, "I have lost a great deal of flesh lately."

"How many pounds did you lose?"

"Oh, about 150," he said.

He still weighs over 250.

Fall of Mr. Gorby.

Ex-State Geologist Gorby, stopping at English's, is said to be suffering from the effects of a fall received a few nights ago. The Professor fell down two flights of stairs, and much was said of the fall, but he was not killed. His condition is not at all serious, and the accident occurred while the professor was trying to make a swift turn before the turn in the stair was reached.

Last Day for Paying Taxes.

Monday next is the last day for paying taxes, and yet Treasurer Schmidt says that but little over half the total due has thus far been paid. The amount taken in is about $500,000. This is a small sum, and the delinquent list this year will be larger than ever before, and that it is due to a belief that the last day for paying taxes is the third Monday in November instead of the first.

Republican Traveling Men.

The Republican Commercial Travelers' Club will hold its regular meeting to-night in its quarters, opposite the Denison House. The meeting will be the first since the election. The business includes the nominating of officers to serve for the ensuing year.

Walker Has a Bad Record.

A photograph of Charles Walker, one of the men arrested a short time ago for daylight robbery on Cornell avenue, has been identified as that of Charles Miller, who was convicted of picking pockets in St. Louis a year ago.

Two People Declared Insane.

Gilbert L. White, a traveling man, was yesterday declared insane. The same finding was made in the case of Hattie Jauch, who is the victim of an unfortunate love affair.

ARTILLERY TOO HEAVY

NOBLESVILLE FOOTBALL MEN COULD NOT STAND THE PRESSURE.

A Fight Seemed Imminent Several Times During the Game--Score 22 to 4.

The Indianapolis Light Artillery was pitted against the Noblesville Athletic Club football eleven yesterday afternoon in a game full of excitement. The Artillery lined up much heavier than the Noblesville, but the Noblesville eleven made a hot fight from start to finish. The Artillery showed good coaching, and that, combined with the great strength of the members, was what won the game. The Noblesville eleven has lots of grit and plays with its best efforts all the time. There were very many little plays that caused bad blood between the men, and at two or three different times it looked as if a fight was necessary to settle the differences.

Noblesville had the first kick off, and it was the Artillery's ball most of the time. Noblesville getting the ball on downs once. Finally the Artillery forced a touch down in about fifteen minutes. On second kick off by Noblesville the ball was blocked by Owens and Carney. On the kick back Noblesville, by a run, made a touchdown, but on punt in the ball was missed. Then it was Artillery's kick off, thirty yards. Tucker got the ball and made short gain. On the second down Hines made a run of ten yards. On the fourth down Noblesville kicked the ball, and on a return kick Darrah got the ball and made a run of about forty-five yards to Artillery's fifteen-yard line. Tucker then by a run gained five yards, then by center rushes the ball was forced almost to Artillery's line, but time was called. Score, 6 to 4.

In the second half the Light Artillery kicked off, the ball was returned ten yards by Tucker and ten yards was gained by rushes. The ball was lost on a fumble. The Artillery made a touchdown, but the ball was not kicked over. On the second kick off Noblesville got the ball to Artillery's fifteen-yard line, then the Artillery by rushes forced the ball speedily towards goal, and finally over the line and goal was kicked.

On the third kick off the Artillery made a fumble and the ball was stopped about where I was forced to the Artillery on this heavy rushes forced the ball over the line and goal was kicked. Time was then called. Score, 12 to 6. Noblesville.

During the game one or two on each side were hurt and substitutes were put in. The following is the position of the men in the Artillery.

Artillery. Center.....Bradley

A Victory for Knightstown.

The football game at the Baseball Park at Knightstown yesterday between a picked eleven from the Indianapolis Artillery and Butler University teams and the Knightstown club was the most exciting and interesting game of the season in that place and drew a large crowd. Fully 1,500 people witnessed the contest, which resulted in a victory for the Knightstown team by score of 12 to 6. The visitors scored the first points of the game, securing 6, but when the first half was finished the home team had evened up with them. During the half excitement ran high, spectators crowded into the lines when the teams were in tight places and it looked for a few moments as if there might be a small riot, but prompt action on the part of the police prevented anything of this character. This makes the third successive victory for the Knightstown team this season. The team played a fine game yesterday.

Verner Here on Routine Business.

M. A. Verner, of the Citizens' Street-railroad Company, is at the Denison. He says his visit has nothing to do with the negotiations that were started in reference to a compromise of the litigation between the city and his company. He is here merely on routine business connected with the company. He says the matter of a compromise will be taken up at some future time, but for the present matters will rest as they are. He says the company will wait at least until the new administration becomes familiar with the affairs of the city.

Additions to State Museum.

A day or two ago there was added to the collection of antiquity at the State Museum two curious relics. One is an almanac printed in Boston in 1740, and the other a set of shackles that were used in Virginia during slavery days. Both articles belong to Mrs. Francis D. Elliott, of No. 374 Cornell avenue. The almanac is yellow with age and quaint in style. The shackles belonged to Mrs. Elliott's grandfather, who was a Virginia slave-owner.

Incorporated Yesterday.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State yesterday as follows: West Elwood Land and Improvement Company, capital stock, $40,000; Ely Window Glass Company, of Delaware county, capital stock, $30,000; Commercial Building and Loan Association, of Indianapolis, capital stock, $100,000; directors, John W. Fort, Calvin K. Ewing, Henry J. Huder, A. Selig, Henry L. Brown, Bert L. Madison.

Indiana's Paper Gift Edged.

The State Treasurer in settling with the State Institutions Thursday paid out nearly $700,000. Yesterday the institutions could have commenced drawing on their new appropriations, but no warrants were presented. It is said at the Treasurer's office that no State in the Union ranks higher in the commercial world than Indiana. Paper with the State of Indiana behind it is gilt-edged everywhere.

Bloody Duel in Kentucky.

LONDON, Ky., Nov. 1--News has just reached here of a bloody duel in Kentucky, Wednesday night. The Hon. W. P. Bentley, who was a member of the Kentucky Legislature in 1877 and 1880, and a prominent man, fought a duel to the death with a man named John W. Fort, a carpenter, having killed his brother about one year ago. Hagline died immediately. Bentley lived about eight hours.
